

Acknowledgements

This report is based on research commissioned and funded by the Law Society, to inform the debate about the future of legal advice and assistance under the legal aid scheme

We are grateful to the many solicitors and advice workers who provided details of their work in response to our postal survey. Much of the report draws on in-depth interviews with selected solicitors and advice workers, and we are especially grateful for their contributions.